

VERTO BUENOS AIRES STUDY CENTER

You will study at a lovely center in the Recoleta neighborhood, known for tree-lined streets, beautiful architecture, and an easily walkable area with many cafes, restaurants, and boutiques. It is one of the safest and most elegant neighborhoods in Buenos Aires. Your study center is located at the following address:

José Andrés Pacheco de Melo 2555, Buenos Aires, Argentina

What can you expect at the study center?

The center consists of a multi-story traditional brick building with an inner courtyard, rooftop patio, staff and student offices, a small kitchen, classrooms of varying sizes, and ample student lounge and study space. The center is near public transportation including many bus stops and a subway station.

The study center is not a typical college campus like what you may be used to in the U.S., but a large building, housing classrooms, student social space, and staff offices -this is an urban campus in Argentina.

What amenities are available?

Services and amenities within the study center include:

- Unlimited Wi-Fi throughout the building
- Classrooms and study spaces
- Rooftop patio
- Water fountain and bottle-filling fountain
- Student Lounge equipped with microwave, refrigerator and coffee maker

What is the layout of the study center?

You will enter the building and walk into a ground-floor hallway leading to a reception area, staff offices, classrooms, lounge space, and additional class space. Through the main stairs, you can proceed up to the second, and third floors, where a study area is available for students.

On each floor, you will pass our classrooms, faculty offices, quiet study space, student lounges, and restrooms. Your dedicated Care Team Leader works at the center and will be available at all times the center is open.

Commuting To and From the Study Center

The best way to get to the study center is by public transportation or by foot depending on your housing accommodation. The public transportation in Buenos Aires is accessible and easy to use.

If you need to use public transport based on your housing accommodation, the Verto staff will guide you on how to navigate the system during the initial days of the program. Buenos Aires has a reliable public transportation system, making it easy to get around by bus or subway when needed.
